

Existing Furniture Services

COP will access a local used furniture Broker Network of 20 plus companies to obtain a competitive “buy back” price for your existing furniture. The value of your existing product (less the removal costs) and the potential financial advantages of using either Herman Miller’s rePurpose Program or The Furniture Trust Donation Program (see below), will be shared with you so you can determine the most cost effective method for disposing of your existing product. There is COP mark up fee associated with each method outlined below.

HMI Program

Herman Miller rePurpose™ Program

Through the Herman Miller rePurpose program, we provide one source for dispensing assets you no longer need through the following programs:

- reSell: We assess your existing furniture and work with our vendor partners to obtain the highest value.
- reUse: We coordinate the donation of your furniture and equipment to non-profits.
- reCycle: We recycle your furniture and equipment to avoid landfill and maximize returns.

By employing a thoughtful combination of resale, recycling, and donation on each project, repurpose ensures each asset reaches its best destination. An immediate transfer of title eliminates corporate liability, and detailed environmental reporting provides documentation for LEED certification and other requirements relating to social accountability.

Furniture Trust Program

Connecting non profit organizations with excess office furnishings and much needed financial support from local businesses every day; thanks to our sustainable network! Nonprofits and schools receive essential office furnishings that make their staff and services more efficient, while investing more of their resources on their mission and improving the lives of others.

Since our founding in 2008, our generous corporate contributors have donated more than $8,000,000 worth of office furniture to The Trust, benefiting over 450 local nonprofits and schools.
